Project Title

Sprintly Free-to-Paid Conversion Analysis

1. Executive Summary

Sprintly is a project and task management SaaS platform headquartered in Tallinn, Estonia. The platform helps small businesses organize projects, assign tasks, and collaborate with team members through a centralized workspace.

Over the past 12 months, Sprintly has experienced consistent customer acquisition through referrals, local business communities, and digital marketing efforts. While new account registrations continue to grow, management has identified a concern regarding the low percentage of free accounts upgrading to a paid subscription.

This project aims to understand the factors influencing account conversion and provide insights that can help improve revenue growth.

2. Business Background

Sprintly was launched to serve small and medium-sized businesses in Estonia that require a simple and affordable project management solution.

The company currently operates only within Estonia and primarily serves:

- Marketing agencies
- Design studios
- IT consultancies
- Professional service firms
- Small business teams

Current Business Snapshot:

- 320 registered companies
- 1,450 active users
- 272 Free accounts
- 48 Paid accounts

Although user acquisition remains healthy, conversion from the Free plan to the Starter plan has not met management expectations.

3. Business Problem

Sprintly has successfully attracted businesses to its platform; however, a significant majority of accounts continue to use the Free plan without upgrading.

Management currently lacks visibility into:

- How customers engage with the platform before upgrading
- Which behaviors are associated with conversion
- Whether collaboration and team adoption influence purchasing decisions
- Which customer segments provide the highest conversion potential

Without this understanding, Sprintly cannot confidently prioritize onboarding improvements, product initiatives, or growth investments.

4. Business Goal

Increase the percentage of Free accounts converting to a paid subscription by identifying the behavioral patterns and customer characteristics associated with successful conversions.

5. Business Objectives

The analysis should help the business:

1. Understand how upgraded accounts use the platform compared to non-upgraded accounts.
 2. Identify behaviors that are commonly observed before a paid conversion occurs.
 3. Determine whether team collaboration influences purchasing decisions.
 4. Evaluate the effectiveness of acquisition channels.
 5. Provide recommendations that can improve conversion rates and recurring revenue.

6. Stakeholders

Executive Stakeholders

- Founder & CEO
- Head of Growth

Operational Stakeholders

- Product Manager
 - Customer Success Manager
 - Marketing Manager

7. Key Business Questions

The project should address the following questions:

Product Adoption

- Do companies that create more projects convert at higher rates?
- Is task activity related to account conversion?
- Does higher engagement lead to increased upgrades?

Team Collaboration

- Are companies that invite more team members more likely to upgrade?
- Does team adoption influence purchasing behavior?

Customer Acquisition

- Which acquisition channels generate the highest conversion rates?
- Are certain customer segments more likely to become paying customers?

Revenue Growth

- What actions should Sprintly encourage during onboarding?
- Which customer behaviors indicate readiness to upgrade?

8. Success Criteria

The project will be considered successful if it provides:

- Clear identification of the key factors associated with account conversion
- Actionable recommendations for improving Free-to-Paid conversion
- Insights that can support future onboarding and growth initiatives
- A framework for measuring conversion performance going forward

9. Expected Business Outcomes

Upon completion of the analysis, Sprintly expects to:

- Better understand customer behavior
 - Improve onboarding effectiveness
 - Increase product adoption among new accounts
 - Improve Free-to-Paid conversion rates
 - Support sustainable recurring revenue growth

10. Project Scope

- Analysis of customer engagement and usage behavior
 - Comparison of upgraded and non-upgraded accounts
 - Identification of conversion drivers
 - Business recommendations

11. Project Deliverables

- Business Analysis Report
- Conversion Driver Assessment
- KPI Framework
- Executive Dashboard
- Business Recommendations & Action Plan
